dead-beat, stanco morlo.

² Ma beat nella forma idiomatica

negativa: cannot o can't.

³ Ma bended nella frase on bended knee, in ginocchio.

com to be able.

⁴ Manca il participio passato. In questo e in altri tempi difettivi di can supplire

com to be able.

⁵ Adoperato generalmente come aggettivo (p.e. cloven hoof, cleft stick).

La terza persona è dare se adoperato davanti a un'infinito usato senza to o sottinteso; altrimenti sempre dares al singolare dell'indicativo (3^a persona).

⁶ Durst si usa soltanto davanti a un'infinito senza to;

⁷ Il negativo do not diventa spesso don't; does not si abbrevia in doesn't.

⁸ Did not si abbrevia didn't.

⁹ Si pronunzia [tɪ].

¹⁰ Quando to hang è verbo transitivo, nel senso di impiccare, è regolare.

¹¹ Nell'uso familiare, il negativo viene abbreviato in haven't e hasn't.

¹² Per esempio: well-knit.

¹³ Quando to lie significa mentire è regolare.

¹⁴ Adoperato per lo più come aggettivo.

¹⁵ Il negativo può essere must not o cannot quando may indica permesso.
